Communications System and Repairs of Communication Equipment

25X1

3. [redacted] some posts had RBM and TSB type radios. The repair of equipment was accomplished by a team of five soldiers and one officer from the 135th Separate Air Warning Battalion, who repaired equipment only when called upon. No periodic maintenance inspections were made by this group. These five soldiers and one officer made a round of all posts twice a year to summarize and winterize radio equipment. (See page 5 for a chart of the communications system of the 2nd Company; page 3 for the layout of the Receiving Center of the 2nd Company; and page 4 for a sketch of the Transmitting Center of the 2nd Company.) 3
